

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system for establishing and maintaining an account for Web based Internet services between a website operator having access to the operator's bank account and a customer for interactive adult website service where the customer has access to the customer's bank. The system includes a transaction server, a website server, website administration apparatus and service performance apparatus with the transaction server facilitating electronic communication between the customer, the website administration apparatus, the customer's bank and the website operator's bank.